THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The President. Appoints Thursday,
November 28th.

By the President of the United States—A Proclamation:

The recurrence of that season at which it is the habit of our people to make devout and public confession of their constant dependence on Divine favor for all good gifts of life and happiness, and of public peace and prosperity, as exhibited in the record of the year, the abundant reasons for our gratitude and thanksgiving, the exuberant harvests, the productive mines, ample crops of the staples of trade and manufactures which have enriched the country, the industry and expanding commerce, and hastening the day when discord and war will be banished from the bosom of the land will, under the contin-gent favor of Providence, have given way to confidence and energy and active prosperity; peace with all nations has remained unbroken; domestic tranquillity has prevailed, and the institutions of liberty and justice which the wisdom and virtue of our fathers established remain the glory and the defense of the children. The general prevalence of the blessings of health throughout our wide land has made more conspicuous the enrichment and growth which the dark shadow of pestilence has cast upon the portion of our people. This heavy affliction even the Divine Ruler has tempered to the suffering communities by the universal sympathy and succor
which have flowed to their relief, and the whole people may rejoice in the unity of spirit in virtue of which they cheerfully share one another's burdens.

Now, therefore, I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 28th day of November next, as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular care and labor, the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, there to give thanks and praise
to Almighty God for His mercies, and to devoutly beseech His continuing aid.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, and the independence of the United States one hundred and third.

R. B. HAYES.
By the President,
WM. M. EVARTS, Secretary of State.

CONGRESSIONAL MAJORITIES.

Sufficient returns have been received from the several Congressional Districts in the State to give very accurately the vote on Congressmen. Some of the Northern counties may be somewhat in doubt, but the vote in them being quite small, the official vote will not materially change
what now seems to be the result. The Republican majorities can be safely set down
as follows:

REPUBLICAN MAJORITIES.
First District.....4,619
Second District.....2,300
Third District.....2,500
Fourth District.....2,500
Fifth District.....2,500
Sixth District.....1,500

Total Republican majorities.....10,623

The Milwaukee Sentinel of Friday, and the Chicago Tribune of Saturday, fell into the error of giving Mr. Williams' majority in this District at 2,623, whereas it should be four thousand six hundred and forty-nine, making a difference of more than 2, 000. In the three Democratic Districts
the majorities are thus given:

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITIES.
Fourth District.....2,700
Fifth District.....2,500
Sixth District.....1,900

Total Democratic majorities.....4,000

The Milwaukee District is so close that no majority can be given for Ducrest. On the official count it will not be more than five or six votes, and there is every reason to believe at present that Mr. Frisby has a small majority. Now look at the vote two years ago and see the falling off of the Democratic strength under the touch of fatigue and repudiation.

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITIES IN 1876.

Fourth District.....5,701
Fifth District.....5,213
Sixth District.....5,213

Total Democratic Majorities.....15,990

From these comparative figures it will be seen that there has been a loss of nearly 10,000 Democratic votes in these three Districts, while the Republican loss in the five Districts is only about 3,100.

THE SOUTH AND DEMOCRACY.

In the North there was a great many over-sensitive Republican journals who deprecated the "bloody shirt" theory of the canvass. They were of Republican proclivities, but still they favored reconciliation
—the mild, forbearing policy—and very much urged the Southern question to be left out of the issues which divided the parties. This was done to a great extent, and in the South while the Republicans were struggling for not only their political rights, but for their lives, their homes, and their property, the Republicans of the North lost all eight of this momentous question, and in the thousands of speeches and countless editorials
in behalf of honest money, the deplorable condition of the Republican party in the Southern States was rarely mentioned.

The "shot-gun" policy was not to be discussed, for fear it might injure the cause of the money question. But now that the campaign is over with, and the Republicans in the North have won a victory which fills the party with pride, these sensitive newspapers which had such a blind love for the policy of conciliation,
are beginning to see that there is something in the cry of the solid South. The result of the political contest in the South, has surprised them. The damnable stories of unblushing outrages openly perpetrated for the sake of defeating Republicans; the murders committed in day time as well as in the night time; the stuffing of ballot boxes and the swearing to false returns;
have at last made them believe that there is some meaning and some significance in what the Democrats have chosen to call the "bloody-shirt" policy. The Milwaukee Sentinel which at the opening of the campaign, argued against the shot-gun policy, begins to see that there does exist in the South "a more corrupt and altogether abominable state of affairs than can be imagined or described."

The New York Times, a very able and conservative journal, which has stoutly advocated the President's Southern policy, begins also to see that the Solid South, and the "bloody-shirt" policy are not delusions; that "the elections can hardly fail to open the eyes of honest, law-abiding Americans to the fact that it is their duty
to aid the colored voters of the South,
in these efforts which they make to secure their rights." Even the Chicago Times, which has all along treated the theory of the solid South with contempt and ridicule, is fairly aroused

—Moist Monday.
—Council meeting to night.
—A large number of church goes yesterday.

—The bridges should be cleaned up before another freeze comes.

—The war on turkey will be made very aggressive and active about the 28th inst.

—The Sunday Schools have already commenced talking up Christmas festivals.

—Lost—all of the red ribbons tied on by Dr. McCollister. No reward offered for their recovery.

—Miss Warner, who has been engaged in the missionary work in Mexico, left for Chicago this morning.

—Dr. O'Leary gives a free talk at the Opera house to-night. Boys only are charged an admission fee.

—The Round Table will hold its first meeting next Saturday night, at Room 2, Mitchell's block, the subject being "King Lear."

—Miss Francis Willard has thus far been unable to fulfill her promise to lecture in Janesville, but will do so sometime during the winter.

—Saturday night drunks: John Connors, charged also with being a vag; James Wood, a simple drunk; and Richard Garry, fighting drunk. They spent Sunday in jail.

—Of the seven prisoners arraigned before Judge Conger this morning five were arrested by Marshall Keating. The Marshall has done good work in bringing criminals to justice.

—The Congregationalists have decided to hold their weekly prayer meetings in the rooms of the Young Men's Association, and will meet there for the first time next Thursday evening.

—Rev. T. P. Sawin will lecture in White-water next Friday evening, before the "Tribe of Jonathan," a society in that place. He will give them his new lecture on "An Old Proverb."

—Rev. W. Bosworth and family, of Boulder City, Colorado, who have been spending a few days with Rev. H. Sewell and family, left for the east this morning, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Bosworth is thinking strongly of uniting again with the Wisconsin Conference.

—Miss Lavinia Goodell, returned Saturday from the East, and is being cordially greeted by her many friends and admirers here. She is greatly improved in health, and is fast recovering in strength, and all will rejoice with her in the success of the treatment to which she so bravely submitted herself.

—The First Methodist church folks propose to improve their congregational singing. They have a good leader in Will Follansbee and an efficient organist in Mrs. Walter Myers, but the singers in the pews need more drill. To accomplish this there will be a Saturday evening sing every week, that the congregation may learn the hymns for the next Sunday.

—Scott, our local artist, has produced what is probably the last political cartoon, of the season. This time the fat frog is dead, and its terribly inflated corpse is on a cart drawn by a poor donkey, labeled "The Democratic Party." By the side of them is an open grave. "The Political Bone Yard," behind them the Republican rooster standing on a silver coin and behind is C. G. Williams holding his nose and wondering where the bad smell comes from. This piece of workmanship is causing quite as much interest as any of the others and has nothing personal about it to offend any body or any body's friends.

WHEN IS THE OPENING?

Next Wednesday evening there will be an opening at Moseley's which promises to be most interesting and worthy of notice. Fitch, who occupies one half of the store, has received many new goods, especially in the fur line, a full assortment of which will be ready for inspection. All the ladies should be present. To interest the gents there will be a fine show of robes, as well as hats, caps and gents' goods. Moseley, who occupies the other half of the store, has been getting in many new holiday goods of interest to all. Among the stock just received by him are many novelties which are well worth seeing. The show will be a fine one on both sides of the house, and all should remember the date of the opening—Wednesday evening, November 13.

FUNERAL OF JOHN JAMESON.

The funeral services of John Jameson took place yesterday afternoon at the family residence in the town of Harmony. There was present the largest gathering of people ever seen there at any similar occasion, for many years, an evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held by the community. Rev. Mr. McLaughlin conducted the services. A quartette from the Presbyterian choir of this city rendered appropriate music. Messrs. Baxter, Decker, Lloyd, Gowdy, Stinson and Blair served as pall bearers. About the head of casket, circled a wreath of silver-leaf geraniums, across the center in letters of white, stood out in relief upon a bed of moss, the words "At Rest," while below this was a cross of tube-roses, with a beautiful star of white flowers and leaves, at the foot. A large number of friends followed the remains to the cemetery. The grave was trimmed with evergreen, interspersed with a profusion of flowers, the tribute of kind friends, and there he lay "at rest." It is seldom that death comes into a community bearing away one such as he. Although he had resided in the city but a comparatively short time, yet he had endeared himself to the hearts of a large number of friends. The graces of his character were many. Always cheerful and happy, with a word or deed of kindness for every one. Friends were irresistibly drawn to him. He was a person of sterling worth and integrity, upright in all his ways; a most dutiful and affectionate son and brother, and a flower of the home circle. Not yet had life opened up before him in all its fullness, yet it was one of great promise, and denoted a manhood of real usefulness and genuine worth.

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY?

Mrs. Mack and Others Answer the Question this Morning—Injured Innocence Seems to Abound.

This morning the prisoners in jail were arraigned before Judge Conger to plead to the charges on which they had been arrested. A large audience gathered in the court room, drawn thither mainly to see for themselves Mrs. Mack, who has gained such an unenviable notoriety from being charged with the brutal murder of her husband. Mrs. Mack arrayed herself at an early hour for this public reception, and was in the best of spirits apparently until her toilet had been completed, and she was led down the stairs from the cell to join the gang which was formed for the march to the Court House. Until then she joked and laughed, and wanted Keating to tell her with whom she was going to be shackled, but when her eyes rested on the tough crowd with whom she was to march, she began to give in. She was very nervous and rather hysterical, and tears unbidden flowed, but she braced up quickly, and with due composure wended her way to the court room. She was dressed in a black alpaca, with a fur-trimmed cloak, while from her bonnet streamed a long mourning veil. When the time came for her to listen to the horrible charge which was read for her to answer, she became nervous and distressed, and a glass of water being passed to her, her trembling fingers could hardly hold it to her lips. She pleaded "not guilty," and was taken back to her jail quarters.

The audience were disappointed in not hearing the plea of Dickinson, the hired man on the Mack farm, who is charged with being mixed up with the same bloody affair. He was not brought up this morning, there being some talk of changing in some respects the charge against him.

Ed Welch, son of Tom Welch, of this city, pleaded guilty to stealing a watch at Clinton.

John Roethinger, William Lee, and Ed McKivitt, charged with burglarizing Lawrence & Atwood's store, pleaded not guilty.

A young man giving his name as Wood—who is charged with picking pockets, and who is said to have snatched a silk wipe from Mrs. Jackson's pocket at fair time, also claimed to be innocent, though his companion confessed all some time ago.

Rosenzanz, the Emerald Grove man, who is said to have knocked night watchman Parker down, while the latter was stopping a saloon light, pleaded not guilty to the charge of resisting an officer.

In the case of the State vs. Thomas Mulcairn a nolle proes was entered.

State vs. Jerome Shimeal. Defendant pleaded not guilty.

State vs. Jacob Snyder. Defendant pleaded in abatement the want of jurisdiction, but this was overruled and defendant accepted and pleaded not guilty.

State vs. Charles T. Wilcox. Defendant pleaded not guilty.

James Quinn and Hugh O'Neil were each fined $50 for assault.

State vs. Israel Wauflin and William Hall. Nolle proes.

State vs. Frank E. Fellows. Defendant asks for a change of venue.

BOUND TO BREAK.

The Prisoners at the Jail Make Two Attempts, in Twenty-Four Hours, to Get Out.

Sheriff Colley has justly prided himself on the fact that this far during his administration not a single prisoner has escaped. His borders seem however determined to knock the bottom out of this justifiable pride of the Sheriff's, and yesterday morning made an attempt to get out into the air. By some means not yet known the prisoners on the south side of the jail got possession of a large crow bar, and were busily employed in prying up the stone floor near the sewer, when they were discovered, and the scheme was a failure. It was evidently their intention to gain an entrance into the sewer, and thus crawl out into free air, and when caught they had already made a hole nearly three feet across, in the bottom of the floor. Young Lee, who is charged with being one of the burglars who entered Lawrence & Atwood's store, was doing the heavy work, when caught, and Roethinger, O'Neil, and Dickinson were trying to divert attention by walking around, whistling, talking, and keeping a lookout for the officers. The prisoners were put into their cells, and Roethinger, O'Neil and Lee were placed in the dungeon. Last night they secured a saw or file and succeeded in cutting apart the chain by which they were shackled together, and if they had not been discovered would probably have made still further efforts to free themselves. The sharp eyed officials at the jail however discovered them before they could carry out any further plans.

O'Neil, who is one the trio, is a hard one and shrewder than any of the others. He was sent up from Beloit as a vagrant, but when arrested there were found on him tools which were evidently intended for use in burglarizing. He will be watched now with renewed carefulness as will the others.

It is supposed that the bar and the saw used by the prisoners were handed in by parties outside the jail. It is said that Saturday night a wagon was heard to roll up and stop near the jail, and it is thought that the bar was placed that night so that the prisoners could get hold of it and draw it through the grate of the window.

DEATH OF MISS EDWARDS.

About half-past one o'clock last night death claimed as its own Miss Jennie B. Edwards, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Edwards, of the Edwards house. Her health has been gradually failing since last May, consumption having gained a hold upon her. She has during a portion of the summer been quite comfortable, and even yesterday afternoon was able to sit up, and was in a happy and sanguine state of mind. In the evening she grew worse, and death came to her relief.

Miss Edwards was greatly beloved not only by her immediate relatives but by her friends and schoolmates. She was sweet spirited, kind and affectionate, and she will be greatly missed by those with whom she has been associated at home and in the school-room.

Less than two months ago Mr. and Mrs. Edwards were heavily stricken by the loss of their daughter Sarah, who fell a victim to a like disease, and this second blow falling so soon upon the other, comes with double heaviness. The sympathies of friends will be thrown in this hour of their trouble, and all that kind hearts and willing hands can do to assuage their grief will be freely offered.

The funeral services will be held at the Edwards house to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

BIBLE BUSINESS.

A Union Service Last Evening—The Annual Meeting of the Rock County Bible Society To-Day.

Last evening the two Methodist churches, the Protestants, and Congregationalists met at the latter's church to hold a union service in the interests of the Bible cause. The choir of those churches united in the musical portion of the services and rendered some inspiring choruses. The meeting opened with songs and prayer, and reading of the scriptures. Earliest and appropriate addresses were made by Revs. Faville, Sewell and Sawin, in accordance with the programme already published.

The meeting was a success in several respects. The exercises were interesting and instructive to all. Unlike most union services, the meeting closed at a reasonable hour, and what pleased many equally well was the fact that there was no beguery of a money raising scheme to frighten people away. Collections were taken in the churches named, at the regular morning services, instead of making the union meeting the occasion for this. From these collections about $30 was realized.

This morning the annual meeting of the Rock County Bible Society was held at the rooms of the Young Men's Association. Mr. H. S. Hogoboom, as President of the Society, called the gathering to order, and Rev. Henry Faville was chosen as Secretary pro tem, Mr. A. H. Sheldon, the regular Secretary, having removed to Madison.

Hon. James Sutherland, the Treasurer of the Society presented his annual report. He prefaced the figures by a statement that this was the first year in the history of the society, in which the work had been attempted without the aid of a regularly appointed and paid county agent. The plan had worked well and seemed to meet with favor, and saved the expense which was generally incurred for having an agent to do the work. Few of the branch societies had held their annual meetings yet, so that the funds received had been mostly from the sales of books. These sales from the County Depository amounted the past year to $131.32. The donations from the depository were $6.30. The inventory showed $219.95 of Bibles on hand. The cash received during the year amounted to $393.63 and the cash on hand is $153.01. The Society is free from debt. The assets are as follows:

Books in the county depository.....$219.95
Books in the branch societies.....$14.45
Cash on hand.....123.61

Total.....$358.01

Besides there are some uncollected subscriptions in the branch societies.

On motion it was decided to donate $50 to the American Bible Society.

An auditing committee was appointed, consisting of J. H. Kinney, Esq., Rev. T. P. Sawin, and H. Moffitt, Esq.

It was also decided to hold the next union meeting on the third Sunday of October, and the annual business meeting the following Monday.

The election of officers resulted in the following choice:

President—H. S. Hogoboom.
Vice President—Edward Huger.
Secretary—J. T. Rexford.
Treasurer—James Sutherland.
Directors—H. F. Bliss, J. H. Kinney, A. D. Hendrickson, W. G. Wheelock, H. Moffitt.

The pastors of the churches represented are by the constitution made vice-presidents and members of the Board ex-officio.

An appropriation of $50 was made for the expenses of the depository for next year, and Hon. James Sutherland was appointed to take charge of it.

It was also decided to expend the surplus cash on hand in the purchase of new books.

Adjournment was then taken.

BREAD FROM HEAVEN.

The pulpit of the First Methodist church was occupied yesterday morning by Rev. R. W. Bosworth, of Boulder City, Colorado. He chose as his text, "Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father giveth you the true bread from heaven." In his opening he pictured the scene and the detailed incidents which clustered about the utterance of these words, and drew some striking comparisons between the true bread of life, and the manna which was gathered in the wilderness and showed wherein this true bread was vastly superior. Like the manna it needed to be gathered daily. No man could get enough religion in one month to last him through the other eleven. Like the manna it was never failing. The true bread was as necessary to the building up of the spiritual body and the renewing of its strength as was the manna to build up and renew physical strength. For the young the speaker drew an important lesson from the fact that the manna was gathered in the morning. So should this spiritual manna be gathered in the morning of life, ere the noon-day sun caused the daily portion to melt away. The sermon abounded in practical lessons thus drawn from the text.

Mr. Bosworth was gladly listened to and with peculiar interest by some in the congregation who were acquainted with him when he belonged to this conference. For eight years past he has been preaching in Colorado, and his old friends gladly welcome him back to Wisconsin, and will still further rejoice on learning that there is a probability of his remaining with the conference here next year.

Ladies and Gents will always find the nicest and cheapest Box and Staple Stationery in the city and Sutherland's Bookstore, No. 29 Main street.

HYMENAL-EXTRA.

At the residence of the fortunate bridegroom, on Wednesday evening, November 6, 1818, Elijah Wikom, a substantial farmer living six miles north of the city, was easily captured and unresistingly bound by the matrimonialist to Clara M., daughter of Silas Hard, Esq., of Fulton. The ceremony in this case was not exactly according to the usual nuptial formula. It was nevertheless a ceremony, and was pronounced with becoming gravity by the gentleman who officiated on the occasion. He called attention to the fact that marrying and giving in marriage had been going on prosperously from time immemorial, notwithstanding the occasional "hard times," and that he had done considerable marrying himself by a formula of his own which had always given great satisfaction—so much so that in one instance he had married the same man to the same woman twice. Then there was a brief recital of certain items of personal history concerning the parties to this extra marriage contract. On the 6th of November, 1893, Elijah and Clara were united in the relation of husband and wife in the usual manner. Fifteen years having passed away, the period of the crystal wedding was at hand. In a few appropriate words in which the humorous and the instructive were blended, the gentleman gravely proceeded to recite the said Elijah and Clara by a ceremony not laid down in the books, but by an extemporized for the occasion. The congratulations and the customary kissing that followed, the latter especially, were after the ordinary way of doing these things.

This was a pleasant crystal wedding party. The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Wikom came together to have a good time on this anniversary occasion, and they had it. The first thing on the programme, and a very essential part of it was a supper, A. No. 1, both as to quality and quantity, proving that the host and hostess knew what good living is. It was taken with a relish, and to the hungry reporter, at least, it was decidedly enjoyable. After the supper came the services referred to, together with the presentation of numerous and choice articles of glass-ware "clear as crystal," which friends had brought in as tokens of their neighborly regard. These articles of table use will be carefully looked after by the tidy housewife of the Wikom home, so that the guests at their hospitable board shall never have to say that they "see through a glass darkly." The occasion throughout was socially pleasant and enjoyable. The marriage ceremony of fifteen years ago, and the extra ceremonial of Wednesday evening were performed by Rev. G. W. Lawrence, of Janesville.

MUSIC NEXT THURSDAY.

Next Thursday evening the Swedish Lady Vocal Quartet will appear at the Opera house. Speaking of them the Boston Transcript says:

"The Swedish Lady Quartet made its first appearance in this city last evening, at Music Hall. Notwithstanding the favorable report that had preceded the Quartet from Europe, the ladies' performance was a delightful surprise. No such quartet singing has been heard here before. The soprano is an artist recalling Mrs. Wray in her sweetest, and of a high order of artistic phrasing, and refinement and beauty of expression. Her companions are all worthy of her, and one has a very remarkable contralto, adding all the harmony and effect of a male voice to the quartet. But the most remarkable and unapproached excellence is their absolutely perfect unity in blending all the varieties of shading in time or volume being executed as by one person, and all the subtle expression proceeding as from one mind and heart."
